

Internal thread cleaners

IRB series: Static internal thread cleaner

BoltClean offers static internal thread cleaners from size M4 up to size M72 that can be used to clean threads on nuts and blind holes. Our static brushes can be used in combination with any type of electric or pneumatic drilling machine. Extensions are available for those applications that require more than the standard shaft length. For maximum durability, our standard brushes are made of high quality stainless steel.

Imperial sizes and different material brushes are available upon request.

Advantages of the IRB series

- ✓ Fits any drill chuck
- ✓ Low investments, high savings
- ✓ Available in both metric and imperial sizes

Dust extraction adapter for IRB brushes

The dust extraction adapter for static brushes is placed in between the drill chuck and the brush and can be connected to a vacuum cleaner. It will then extract dust and other particles away from the operator during the brushing procedure. Its spring based design makes sure that the top of the nut or a blindhole is covered, therefore creating the perfect vortex. The dust extraction adapter will fit any IRB brush with a size between M4 and M76.
